

CROP PROTECTION IN PERSPECTIVE

Humans affect the environment in multiple ways. One such way is farming, with its use of pesticides to protect crops from pests, diseases and competing weeds. Providing safer, more sustainable crop protection tools, and using pesticides in a responsible way, can have a positive effect – just as recycling can reduce waste.

We all have a responsibility to reduce our impact on the environment; our planet is worth protecting.

