

Oliver Rittgen

Chief Financial Officer at Consumer Health

Oliver Rittgen is Chief Financial Officer (CFO) for Bayer's Consumer Health division and a member of the Consumer Health Executive Committee. He oversees regional controlling, performance management, strategic financial planning, and strategic business analytics, as well as key support functions, including IT, accounting, procurement, law, patents & compliance, and risk management.

Oliver is a German national, with a Master's degree in Business Administration from the University of Cologne, Germany.

He started his career at Mannesmann AG in 1999. He joined Bayer in 2000 as an auditor and became Chief Financial Officer of North ASEAN in 2003. From there, he returned to the headquarters in Leverkusen to take on global responsibility as Head of Auditing for Bayer Material Science (today Covestro). In 2011, he moved to the Nordics as the Senior Bayer Representative and Chief Financial Officer for the region. He moved back to Leverkusen in 2017 to take over Corporate Finance before joining Bayer Consumer Health on January 1, 2020.

Oliver is married with two children. He is based in Consumer Health's global headquarters in Basel, Switzerland.