

Emergency Authorizations of Crop Protection Products Outside the European Union

Many countries outside the European Union have legislation in place which allows them to grant temporary, emergency authorizations of otherwise unauthorized substances when a severe agricultural pest or disease threat has been identified.

Hover over the circles on each country to learn more about the procedures necessary to grant an emergency authorization.

