

Dear ladies and gentlemen,

A virtual Annual Stockholders' Meeting is not an ordinary Annual Stockholders' Meeting. The German government created this option during the pandemic. Your salaries do not justify your hiding from the company's stockholders behind cameras.

Sincerely,
Klaus Müller

PS: Reality has proven the absurdity of the argument that a larger number of shareholders are able to participate this way since virtual annual stockholders' meetings' participation rates are between 10 and 20% of ordinary ones.
